Quando prendiamo una valigia e partiamo, ci portiamo dietro le nostre qualità e le nostre squisite legerezze. Se in Italia ci diamo un contegno, varcata la frontiera viene fuori di tutto: l'incoscienza e la generosità, l'intuito e il pressappochismo, la rustica astuzia che porta al furto sistematico dei bottigliini di shampoo dalle stanze d'albergo. Severgnini racconta anche i suoi viaggi in cinque continenti. Con salutare autoironia, ci accompagna lungo la ferrovia Transiberiana, su aerei cinesi, auto americane, taxi sudafricani. Ci guida attraverso ventun città del mondo, visitate nel corso di quindici anni (da Atlanta a Zagabria, passando per Dublino, Berlino e Pechino). Rientrato in patria, esplora la costa da Trieste a Ventimiglia. Poi, guidato dai lettori, indaga la provincia italiana.

The crisis of borders and prisons can be seen starkly in statistics. In 2011 some 1,500 migrants died trying to enter Europe, and the United States deported nearly 400,000 and imprisoned some 2.3 million people--more than at any other time in history. International borders are increasingly militarized places embedded within domestic policing and imprisonment and entwined with expanding prison-industrial complexes. Beyond Walls and Cages offers scholarly and activist perspectives on these issues and explores how the international community can move toward a more humane future. Working at a range of geographic scales and locations, contributors examine concrete and ideological connections among prisons, migration policing and detention, border fortification, and militarization. They challenge the idea that prisons and borders create safety, security, and order, showing that they can be forms of coercive mobility that separate loved ones, disempower communities, and increase shared harms of poverty. Walls and cages can also fortify wealth and power inequalities, racism, and gender and sexual oppression. As governments increasingly rely on criminalization and violent measures of exclusion and containment, strategies for achieving change are essential. Beyond Walls and Cages develops abolitionist, no borders, and decolonial analyses and methods for social change, showing how seemingly disconnected forms of state violence are interconnected. Creating a more just and free world--whether in the Mexico-U.S. borderlands, the Morocco-Spain region, South Africa, Montana, or Philadelphia--requires that people who are most affected become central to building alternatives to global crosscurrents of criminalization and militarization. Melissa M. Wilcox explores the complex spiritual lives of queer women in the Los Angeles area. She takes the reader on a tour of a colorful array of religious and secular groups that serve as spiritual resources for these women--from the well-known Metropolitan Community Churches to Wiccan covens, from the Gay and Lesbian Sierrans to the Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence. Arguing that these women's stories are exemplary cases of postmodern patterns of religious identity, belief, and practice, Wilcox offers a nuanced analysis of contemporary Western spirituality and selfhood, and a detailed exploration of the history of queer religious organizing in Los Angeles. Queer Women and Religious Individualism is important reading for scholars in religious studies, sociology, women's studies, and LGBT studies.

Black Cat Weekly #98 features 10 short stories and a novel. This time, we have five mysteries (including a terrific original by Adam Meyer, courtesy of Acquiring Editor Michael Bracken), modern tales by Dharma Kelleher (courtesy of Acquiring Editor Barb Goffman) and Jack Halliday, plus a classic by Frank Gruber, who was a prolific pulp writer and novelist. Gruber's story of a dance-hall clip-joint provides a window into a long-gone era. And of course, no issue is complete without a solve-it-yourself mystery. On the more science fiction and fantasy side, we have a sword-and-sorcery tale by Phyllis Ann Karr (set in her Frosterflower and Thorn universe), a dark fantasy by horror master Joseph Payne Brennan, a time-travel tale by Robert Abernathy, and classic science fiction by Philip Jose Farmer ("Daughter" is a followup to his classic tale, "Mother") and John W. Campbell (the tale of grim survival on the moon, The Moon Is Hell.) And for Western fans, we have a classic tale by Alan Le May. Great stuff! Here's the complete lineup: Mysteries / Suspense / Adventure: "Stacy's Mom," by Adam Meyer [Michael Bracken Presents short story] "The Games Gang Rides Again," Hal Charlies [Solve-It-Yourself Mystery] "Kissing Asphalt," by Dharma Kelleher [Barb Goffman Presents short story] "Great Caesar's Ghost!" by Jack Halliday [short story] "Clip-Joint Adventures," by Frank Gruber [short story] "The Bells of San Juan," by Alan Le May [short story] Science Fiction & Fantasy: "Sorcery and Sacrilege," by Phyllis Ann Karr [short story] "The Midnight Bus," by Joseph Payne Brennan [short story] "Daughter," by Philip Jose Farmer [short story] "Stopwatch on the World," by Robert Abernathy [novelet] The Moon Is Hell, by John W. Campbell [novel]

Valerie Biden Owens è la sorella minore di Joe Biden, allo stesso tempo la sua confidente e consigliera più fidata. Quella dei Biden non è la storia di una dinastia della politica americana come i Kennedy o i Bush. In questo memoir Valerie Biden Owens apre per la prima volta le porte di casa Biden: l'educazione cattolica, il valore della famiglia, il legame speciale con il fratello Joe, il potere della gentilezza e dell'empatia in un mondo sempre più diviso e arrabbiato. Senza dimenticare le sfide che ha dovuto affrontare, a partire dalle barriere di genere, per affermarsi professionalmente e avere un impatto positivo nella comunità e sulla vita delle altre donne. Un memoir intimo e generoso, la voce di una donna esemplare che non ha mai smesso di credere nei valori in cui è stata cresciuta e non ha mai rinunciato a realizzare i suoi sogni.

'The book is a house of wonders' The New York Times 'Steven Johnson is the Darwin of technology' Walter Issacson, author of Steve Jobs What connects Paleolithic bone flutes to the invention of computer software? Or the Murex sea snail to the death of the great American city? How does the bag of crisps you hold in your hand help tell the story of humanity itself? In Wonderland, his brilliant work on the history of innovation, international bestseller Steven Johnson argues that the pursuit of novelty and wonder has always been a powerful driver of world-shaping technological change. He finds that throughout history, the cutting edge of innovation lies wherever people are working the hardest to keep themselves and others amused. Johnson's storytelling is just as delightful as the inventions he describes, full of surprising stops along the journey from simple concepts to complex modern systems. He introduces us to the colourful innovators of leisure: the explorers, proprietors, showmen, and artists who changed the trajectory of history with their luxurious wares, exotic meals, taverns, gambling tables, and magic shows. Johnson compellingly argues that observers of technological and social trends should be looking for clues in novel amusements. You'll find the future wherever people are having the most fun.

A People's Guide to Los Angeles offers an assortment of eye-opening alternatives to L.A.'s usual tourist destinations. It documents 115 little-known sites in the City of Angels where struggles related to race, class, gender, and sexuality have occurred. They introduce us to people and events usually ignored by mainstream media and, in the process, create a fresh history of Los Angeles. Roughly dividing the city into six regions—North Los Angeles, the Eastside and San Gabriel Valley, South Los Angeles, Long Beach and the Harbor, the Westside, and the San Fernando Valley—this illuminating guide shows how power operates in the shaping of places, and how it remains embedded in the landscape.

En esta historia ilustrada, Steven Johnson se adentra en los aspectos lúdicos de la tecnología. Reúne para eso un elenco de personajes excéntricos y entrañables, inmersos en un sinfín de anécdotas que muestran "la cocina" de un puñado de inventos que fueron llamados providencialmente a cambiar el mundo, nuestro mundo. Este libro es también un viaje a través del tiempo y las civilizaciones, que hilvana estaciones y paradas a golpe de capítulos a cual más sorprendente. Así desfilan ante el lector, como revelados por primera vez, la historia de la moda y de las grandes tiendas, el comercio de especias, los instrumentos músicos--desde la flauta de hueso hasta los teclados más sofisticados, sin olvidar a los ejecutantes autómatas o las pianolas-, las máquinas de escribir, las linternas mágicas, los aparatos de aberraciones ópticas y los espacios físicos destinados al placer, como tabernas y parques de diversiones. Johnson nos presenta también a sujetos poco o mal conocidos, y al hacerlo el lector se pregunta por qué demonios no los conocía de antes, ya sea por su genio, su locura, su originalidad, su velado protagonismo. En suma, El País de las Maravillas es un periplo a través del asombro, el ocio y la diversión, que devuelve nuestra mirada a los objetos por todos conocidos para exhibirlos bajo una nueva luz: la de sus historias jamás contadas.

Unlike the more forthrightly mythic origins of other urban centers—think Rome via Romulus and Remus or Mexico City via the god Huitzilopochtli—Los Angeles emerged from a smoke-and-mirrors process that is simultaneously literal and figurative, real and imagined, material and metaphorical, physical and textual. Through penetrating analysis and personal engagement, Vincent Brook uncovers the many portraits of this ever-enticing, ever-ambivalent, and increasingly multicultural megalopolis. Divided into sections that probe Los Angeles's checkered history and reflect on Hollywood's own self-reflections, the book shows how the city, despite considerable remaining challenges, is finally blowing away some of the smoke of its not always proud past and rhetorically adjusting its rear-view mirrors. Part I is a review of the city's history through the early 1900s, focusing on the seminal 1884 novel Ramona and its immediate effect, but also exploring its ongoing impact through interviews with present-day Tongva Indians, attendance at the 88th annual Ramona pageant, and analysis of its feature film adaptations. Brook deals with Hollywood as geographical site, film production center, and frame of mind in Part II. He charts the events leading up to Hollywood's emergence as the world's movie capital and explores subsequent developments of the film industry from its golden age through the so-called New Hollywood, citing such self-reflexive films as Sunset Blvd., Singin' in the Rain, and The Truman Show. Part III considers LA noir, a subset of film noir that emerged alongside the classical noir cycle in the 1940s and 1950s and continues today. The city's status as a privileged noir site is analyzed in relation to its history and through discussions of such key LA noir novels and films as Double Indemnity, Chinatown, and Crash. In Part IV, Brook examines multicultural Los Angeles. Using media texts as signposts, he maps the history and contemporary situation of the city's major ethno-racial and other minority groups, looking at such films as Mi Familia (Latinos), Boyz N the Hood (African Americans), Charlotte Sometimes (Asians), Falling Down (Whites), and The Kids Are All Right (LGBT).

Our 66th issue kicks off our holiday festivities, thanks to Katherine Fast's "Reunion" (brought to you by Acquiring Editor Barb Goffman) Plus we have an original tale by Albert Tucher (courtesy of Acquiring Editor Michael Bracken), and a darker science fiction story by David C. Smith (thanks to Acquiring Editor Cynthia Ward, who had been on leave for the last few issues.) On the mystery front, we have another Johnny Liddell mystery from Frank Kane, a historical novel (okay, a western...but it's also a mystery!) by W.C. Tuttle, and of course a solve-it-yourself puzzler from Hal Charles. On the science fiction end, we have a fun tale by the late British master Arthur Sellings, who has been too-long neglected. We hope to have more of his work in future issues. We also have strong stories from Murray Leinster and George O. Smith, plus another Jules de Grandin psychic detective yarn by

Seabury Quinn, from the pages of the legendary pulp magazine Weird Tales. Here's this issue's lineup: Mysteries / Suspense / Adventure: "Tomato Rage," by Albert Tucher [Michael Bracken Presents short story] "Tracking Time" by Hal Charles [Solve-It-Yourself Mystery] "Reunion," by Katherine Fast [Barb Goffman Presents short story] "Pass the Word Along," by Frank Kane [short story] Sundog Loot, by W.C. Our 59th issue puts us firmly into one of the happiest seasons of the year, Halloween! So fun and frights abound, with extra spooky content—starting with "Ghost Writers in the Sky," an original tale by Steve Liskow, courtesy of Acquiring Editor Michael Bracken. (It does double-duty as mystery and fantasy, as does Acquiring Editor Barb Goffman's pick, "Deal Breaker," by Justin Gustainis.) Alas, we have no selection from Cynthia Ward this time, but hopefully she will be back in short order. I picked up one of my favorite dark fantasies by another Acquiring Editor to fill the hole: "Peeling It Off," by Darrell Schweitzer. Plus an uncanny tale by A.R. Morlan that would have been at home in Weird Tales, then a Victorian-era occult novel by Marie

Corelli round things out. For fans of traditional mysteries, we have a pair of great private detective novels: About Face, by Frank Kane, and a vintage Nick Carter novel from 1903. On the science fiction side, we have contributions by Murray Leinster and a novel by George O. Smith. Overall, this is one of our most eclectic issues, but there is bound to be more than a few tales to suit everyone's taste. Here's the complete lineup: Mysteries / Suspense / Adventure: "Ghost Writers in the Sky," by Steve Liskow [Michael Bracken Presents short story] "Point, Set, Match," Hal Charles [Solve-It-Yourself Mystery] "Deal Breaker," by Justin Gustainis [Barb Goffman Presents short story] Toying with Fate, by Nicholas Carter About Face, by Frank Kane [novel] Science Fiction & Fantasy: "Ghost Writers in the Sky," by Steve Liskow [Michael Bracken Presents short story] "Deal Breaker," by Justin Gustainis [Barb Goffman Presents short story] "Peeling It Off," by Darrell Schweitzer [novelet] "The Cat Tracker Lady of Asad Alley," by A.R.
