But Sophy quickly realises the challenge on her hands - the house is decrepit and its eccentric inhabitants - including two squabbling elderly great aunts, and a highly unconventional cook - are a handful. And once it is discovered that Wynter's End once played host to a young Shakespeare, Sophy's ideas for renovating the beautiful seventeenth century knot gardens run riot. Soon, the entire village of Sticklepond is curious about Sophy's plans for Wynter's End, especially charming and attentive Jack. But is he really smitten by Sophy or her inheritance? Gorgeous head gardener Seth is the strong and silent type. But does his passion bloom for anything beyond the horticultural? Could Wynter's End really be a gift from the gods or will it turn it out to be a real mixed blessing?
